

Introduction -- Jeffrey Frankel and H  l  ne Rey, ISoM co-chairs
For special issue of the Journal of International Economics, 2019.

This issue is a selection of papers presented at the 41st annual meeting of ISoM, the International Seminar on Macroeconomics. ISoM, a project of the National Bureau of Economic Research, brings together American and European economists in a different European city each June. This year's meeting was held in Dublin, Ireland, June 29-30, 2018, kindly hosted by the Central Bank of Ireland and its Governor, Philip Lane, who took an active role in the proceedings. The program was organized by Jordi Gal   and Kenneth D. West. The papers have gone through the usual refereeing process of the Journal of International Economics, with Charles Engel serving as special editor of this issue.
